22 On June 13, 2014, Plaintiffs Trustee of Fay Avenue
23 Properties Bankruptcy Estate ("Fay Ave"), and La Jolla Spa
24 MD, Inc. ("LJ Spa") and Defendant Travelers Property
25 Casualty Company of America ("Defendant") filed Joint 26 Statements for Determination of Discovery Disputes. One 27 Joint Statement involves LJ Spa's Responses to Defendant's 28 Interrogatories, Requests for Production of Documents, and

1 Requests for Admission. The other Joint Statement involves 2 Fay Ave's Responses to Defendant's Interrogatories. The 3 Court, having reviewed the Joint Statements, the authori-
4 ties cited therein, the discovery requests and the re-5 sponses thereto, and the documents attached to the Joint 6 Statements, and GOOD CAUSE APPEARING, HEREBY ORDERS as 7 follows:

8 I

9 DISCUSSION

10 A. Waiver of Discovery Objections

11 The Court observes that most of Fay Ave's and LJ
12 Spa's responses to Defendant's discovery requests state 13 objections such as vague, ambiguous, overbroad, unduly 14 burdensome, oppressive as to scope and time, compound, 15 etc. Additionally, many of the responses invoke the 16 attorney-client privilege and work product doctrine.
17 Further, the responses contain language stating "subject
18 to and without waiving these objections, (Plaintiff) 19 responds as follows:," and "(Plaintiff) will produce non-20 privileged responsive documents within its custody and 21 control."

22 Conditional responses and/or the purported reserva-23 tion of rights by Plaintiffs is improper and ultimately 24 has the effect of waiving Plaintiffs' objections to the 25 discovery requests. Sprint Communications Co. v. Comcast
26 Cable Communications, LLC, 2014 WL 545544 at *2 (D. KS
27 2014)("Sprint I"), modified 2014 WL 569963 (D. KS
28 2014)("Sprint II").

1           The Court recognizes that it is common practice 2 among attorneys to respond to discovery requests by 3 asserting objections and then responding to the discovery 4 requests "subject to" and/or "without waiving" their 5 objections. This practice is confusing and misleading.
6 Moreover, it has no basis in the Federal Rules of Civil 7 Procedure. Sprint I, 2014 WL 545544 at *2.

8           The responses are confusing and misleading because,
9 for example, when a party responds to an interrogatory
10 that is "subject to" and "without waiving its objections," 11 the propounder of the interrogatory is "left guessing as 12 to whether the responding party has fully or only par-
13 tially responded to the interrogatory." Estridge v. Target 14 Corp., 2012 WL 527051 at *1-2 (S.D. FL 2012). Similarly, 15 with respect to requests for production of documents, a 16 response "subject to" and "without waiving objections," 17 leaves the requesting party to guess whether the producing 18 party has produced all responsive documents, or only some 19 responsive documents and withheld others on the basis of 20 the objections. Sprint I, 2014 WL 545544 at *2, Rodriguez 21 v. Simmons, 2011 WL 1322003 at *7 (E.D. Cal.
22 2011)(Defendant's objections to requests for production of 23 documents did not comply with the Federal Rules of Civil 24 Procedure because the responses to the requests for 25 production of documents did not clearly state that the 26 documents had already been produced, or exist, but are not 27 being withheld based on other interposed objections.)
28

1            "If Defendants do have responsive documents, but 2 wish to withhold them on privacy (or privilege) grounds, 3 Plaintiff should be made aware of this fact and the 4 parties should continue their meet and confer obligations
5 to ensure redaction, a protective order, in camera review, 6 or other (privilege or) privacy-guarding measures are 7 implemented to properly balance the need for discovery
8 against the need for (privilege or) privacy." Id. at *7, 9 fn. 9 (citation omitted)(emphasis in original).

10            Moreover, when a party responds to a request for 11 production of documents, it has three options under 12 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 34: (1) serve an objection
13 to the requests as a whole, [Federal Rule of Civil Proce-14 dure 34(b)(2)(B)], or (2) serve an "objection to part of 15 the request, provided it specifies the part to which it 16 objects and respond to the non-objectionable portions, 17 [Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 34(b)(2)(C)] or (3) serve 18 a response that says that all responsive documents will be 19 produced. What a party can not do is combine its objec-20 tions into a partial response without any indication that 21 the response was actually a partial response. Haeger v.
22 Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., 906 F.Supp 2d 938, 976 (D. AZ 23 2012).

24            Further, conditional responses to discovery requests
25 violate Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 26. Rule 26
26 (g)(1)(B)(i)-(iii) requires responders to discovery 27 requests to certify that the discovery responses are 28 consistent with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, "not

1 imposed for any improper purpose," and are "neither
2 unreasonable nor unduly burdensome." Moreover, the 1983
3 Committee comments to Rule 26(g) state that "Rule 26
4 imposes an affirmative duty to engage in pretrial discov-5 ery in a responsible manner that is consistent with the 6 spirit and purposes of Rule 26 through 37." Providing 7 conditional responses to discovery requests is improper.
8 Sprint II, 2014 WL 1569963 at *3.

9         Consequently, since Plaintiffs' responses to discov-
10 ery requests that are "subject to" and "without waiving 11 objections," are improper, the objections are deemed waived 12 and the response to the discovery request stands.
13 Estridge, 2012 WL 527051 at *2 ,[citing Tardif v. People 14 for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, 2011 WL 1627165 at 15 *2 (M.D. FL 2011), Pepperwood of Naples Condominium Assn.
16 v. Nationwide Mutual Fire Ins. Co., 2011 WL 4382104 at *4-

18 Buys Magazine, Inc., 2008 WL 4327253 at *3 (S.D. FL
19 2008)("subject to" and "without waiving objections" 20 "preserve... nothing and serve... only to waste the time 21 and resources of both the Parties and the Court. Further, 22 such practice leaves the requesting party uncertain as to 23 whether the question has actually been fully answered or 24 whether portion of the question has been answered.")

25         B. Reference To Documents In Discovery Requests

26         A party may answer an interrogatory by specifying 27 records from which the answer may be obtained and by 28 making the records available for inspection. Federal Rule

1 of Civil Procedure 33(d)(2). But the records must be 2 specified "in sufficient detail to enable the interrogat-3 ing party to locate and identify them as readily as the 4 responding party could." Federal Rule of Civil Procedure
5 33(d)(1). Responses to interrogatories that do not specify 6 where in the records the answers could be found do not 7 comply with Rule 33(d)(1). Rule 33 was amended in 1980 "to 8 make clear that a responding party has the duty to spec-9 ify, by category and location, the records from which the 10 answers to the interrogatories can be derived." Rainbow
11 Pioneer No. 44-18-04A v. Hawaii Nevada Inv. Co., 711 F.2d 12 902, 906 (9th Cir. 1983)[discussing former Federal Rule of 13 Civil Procedure 33(c)]. West v. Ultimate Metals Co., 2014
14 WL 466795 at *2 (N.D. Cal. 2014), Tourgeman v. Collins
15 Financial Services, Inc., 2010 WL 2181416 at *6 (S.D. Cal.
16 2010). Former Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 33(c) is the 17 same as the current Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 33(d).
18 Cambridge Electronics Corp. v. MGA Electronics, 227 F.R.D.
19 313, 323, (C.D. Cal. 2004).

20 A party seeking damages must timely disclose its 21 theory of damages as well as its computation of those 22 damages. Brighton Collectibles, Inc. v. RK Texas Leather
23 Mfg., 2013 WL 4716210 at *3 (S.D. Cal.
24 2013). "'Computation' contemplates some analysis beyond
25 merely setting forth a lump sum amount. While the computa-26 tion of damages does not need to be detailed early in the 27 case prior to relevant discovery, the plaintiff must 28 supplement its initial damage computation to reflect

1 information obtained during discovery." Id. at *3, citing
2 City & County of San Francisco v. Tutor-Saliba Corp., 218
3 F.R.D. 219, 221-222 (N.D. Cal. 2003). Further, the service
4 of expert witness' reports does not excuse a litigant from 5 his/her other discovery obligations, such as a computation
6 of damages. Shakespear v. Wal-Mart Stores, 2013 WL 6498898
7 at *4 (D. NV 2013). Future expert analysis does not 8 relieve a litigant of its obligation to provide informa-9 tion that is reasonably available to it regarding its 10 alleged damages. Frontline Medical Assoc. v. Coventry
11 Health Care, 263 F.R.D. 567, 570 (C.D. Cal. 2009). There-
12 fore, Plaintiffs' responses to Defendant's discovery
13 requests, particularly as to Plaintiffs' responses that 14 state that expert discovery is needed to respond to the 15 discovery requests, are insufficient.

16 The Court observes that many of Fay Ave's and LJ
17 Spa's responses to Defendant's discovery requests refer to 18 documents produced in this litigation. However, the 19 responses that refer to documents are inadequate because 20 they fail to specify in sufficient detail to enable 21 Defendant to locate and identify the documents to which 22 Plaintiffs refer. Many of Defendant's requests refer to 23 Plaintiff's substantiation of the damages they have 24 allegedly sustained. Plaintiffs must provide to Defendant
25 a computation of the damages they claim in this litiga-26 tion, and must specifically identify the documents they 27 used to arrive at the computation of damages.

1           C. Assertion of Privileges

2           The Court observes that many of Fay Ave's and LJ
3 Spa's responses to Defendant's discovery requests assert 4 that the requests invade the attorney-client privilege, 5 work product or are "objectionable." To the extent that 6 the responses invoke a privilege, work product, or are 7 "objectionable," Plaintiffs are required to provide to 8 Defendant a privilege log that lists each document with-9 held from production. Federal Rule of Civil Procedure
10 26(b)(5)(A)(i)-(ii). A proper assertion of of privilege, 11 work product, or that the document is "objectionable," 12 must contain the following for each document, communica-
13 tion or information withheld:

14           (1) Date of the creation of the document;

15           (2) Author;

16           (3) Primary addressee(s) [and the relationship of 17 that person(s) to the client and/or author of the 18 document];

19           (4) Secondary addressee(s), persons who received 20 copies of the document and the recipient [and the rela-21 tionship of that person(s) to the client and/or author of 22 the document];

23           (5) Type of document;

24           (6) Client (party asserting the privilege)

25           (7) Attorneys (with an indication of who the attor-26 ney represents);

27           (8) Subject matter of the document or privileged 28 communication;

(9) Purpose of the document or privileged communication (basis for the legal claim of privilege, work product or objection to production);

(10) Whether the document, communication or objection is attorney-client privilege, work product, or some other basis;

(11) Identify each document by number.<sup>1/</sup>

1 response so stating. In addition, LJ Spa shall include in 2 its supplemental response its computation of damages
3 referred to in the Interrogatory. Expert witness discovery
4 is not required to respond to this Interrogatory.

5 Request for Production of Documents No. 53-64

6 Pursuant to the discussion at Section I.A. of this 7 Order, LJ Spa's objections are waived. To the extent that 8 LJ Spa is withholding information protected by the 9 attorney-client privilege, work product, or for any other 10 reason, including that the documents are "objectionable," 11 LJ Spa shall produce to Defendant a privilege log. See 12 Sprint II, 2014 WL 1569963 at *3. If LJ Spa is not with-13 holding any information protected by the attorney-client

15 serve on Defendant a supplemental response so stating.
16 Further, pursuant to Section I.B. of this Order, LJ Spa
17 shall serve a supplemental response to these Requests that 18 specify in sufficient detail to enable Defendant to locate 19 and identify the documents which are responsive to these 20 Requests and to which LJ Spa refers. In the event the 21 documents to which Fay Ave refers do not sufficiently 22 respond to these Requests, Fay Ave is directed to supple-
23 ment its response to comply with this Order.

24 Request for Admission No. 21

25 Pursuant to the discussion at Section I.A. of this
26 Order, LJ Spa's objections are waived. LJ Spa's response 27 to this Request for Admission is not responsive to the 28 Request for Admission because Defendant requested that LJ

1 Spa admit or deny details of the alleged theft of equip-
2 ment. LJ Spa did not admit or deny the Request for Admis-
3 sion as written. LJ Spa shall provide to Defendant a
4 supplemental response that responds to the Request for 5 Admission as written.

6 Request for Admission No. 22

7 Pursuant to the discussion at Section I.A. of this 8 Order, LJ Spa's objections are waived. The response to 9 this Request for Admission is not responsive to the 10 Request for Admission because Defendant requested that LJ
11 Spa admit or deny details of the alleged theft of equip-
12 ment. LJ Spa did not admit or deny the Request for Admis-
13 sion as written. LJ Spa shall provide to Defendant a
14 supplemental response that responds to the Request for 15 Admission as written.

16 Request for Admission No. 23

17 Pursuant to the discussion at Section I.A. of this
18 Order, LJ Spa's objections are waived. LJ Spa's response 19 to this Request for Admission is not responsive because 20 Defendant requested that LJ Spa admit or deny details of 21 the alleged theft of inventory and products from the 22 retail boutique and spa. LJ Spa did not admit or deny the 23 Request for Admission as written. LJ Spa shall provide to 24 Defendant a supplemental response that responds to the 25 Request for Admission as written.

26 Request for Admission No. 29

27 Pursuant to the discussion at Section I.A. of this 28 Order, LJ Spa's objections are waived. Pursuant to Federal

1 Rule of Civil Procedure 36(a)(4), LJ Spa shall serve on 2 Defendant a supplemental response that explains why it can 3 not admit or deny this Request for Admission. LJ Spa's
4 response is not responsive because Defendant requested
5 that LJ Spa admit or deny that Dr. Richard Choo performed 6 surgeries at the surgery center between November 2009 and
